FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Oops, We Did It Again... HSNT Flies Over 140 Pets to the Wild, Wild West!

Fort Worth, Texas, April 3, 2019:

Over 140 dogs and cats will be transported from the Humane Society of North Texas (HSNT) on Thursday, April 4, 2019, to California, Washington and Oregon. HSNT continues to partner with the ASPCA® (American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals®) Animal Relocation Team and Wings of Rescue to fly pets to locations where adopters are anticipating the arrival of these little Texas furkids!

As HSNT continues to see an increase in its daily intake numbers, it is committed to moving adoptable pets of all ages, sizes, and breeds to locations where the availability of adoptable pets is highly anticipated. HSNT will also continue supporting its community with vaccination clinics, spay and neuter programs, senior citizen programs – all of which offer low cost or free services. To learn more about HSNT's programs, visit hsnt.org/services.

"The Humane Society of North Texas continues to struggle with a constant flow of surrendered pets, despite our conversations with pet owners coming into the shelter. We offer free vaccinations, microchipping, behavioral counseling, pet food and other basic veterinary needs in hopes owners will keep their pets in their homes," said Cassie Lackey, Director of Communications at HSNT. "We are extremely thankful for the partnership with other humane societies on the West Coast who can save these pets' lives."

"With this flight, Wings of Rescue is proud to fly its 1,000th pet from our good friends at the Humane Society of North Texas since we began our partnership in June of last year," said Ric Browde, President & CEO, Wings of Rescue.
